Common Addictions

In case you thought you had no addictions, here is a list.

You are addicted when you are unable to stop a behavior pattern or use of substances, despite negative consequences and despite your best efforts to stop.

- Alcohol
- Attention seeking
- Avoiding:
- Auto racing
- Betting
- Bulimia (purging/vomiting)
- Cheating
- Coffee
- Colas
- Collecting:
  - Art
  - Coins
  - Junk

SYNTHESIS = DIALECTICAL ABSTINENCE

The goal is not to engage in addictive behavior again—in other words, to achieve complete abstinence.

However, if there is a slip, the goal is to minimize harm and get back to abstinence as soon as possible.

Pros: It works!

Cons: It’s work. You don’t get a vacation.

(You’re always either abstinent or working to get back to abstinence.)

An example of expecting the best and planning for the trouble spots: Olympic athletes must believe and behave as though they can win every race, even though they have lost before and will lose again.
Planning for Dialectical Abstinence

Plan for Abstinence

- 1. Enjoy your success, but with a clear mind; plan for temptations to relapse.
- 2. Spend time or touch base with people who will reinforce you for abstinence.
- 3. Plan reinforcing activities to do instead of addictive behaviors.
- 4. Burn bridges: Avoid cues and high-risk situations for addictive behaviors.
- 5. Build new bridges: Develop images, smells, and mental activities (such as, urge surfing) to compete with information associated with craving.
- 6. Find alternative ways to rebel.
- 7. Publicly announce abstinence; deny any idea of lapsing to addiction.

Plan for Harm Reduction

- 1. Call your therapist, sponsor, or mentor for skills coaching.
- 2. Get in contact with other effective people who can help.
- 3. Get rid of temptations; surround yourself with cues for effective behaviors.
- 4. Review skills and handouts from DBT.
- 5. Opposite action (Emotion Regulation Handout 10) can be rehearsed to fight guilt and shame. If no other option works, go to an anonymous meeting of any sort and publicly report your lapse.
- 6. Building mastery and coping ahead for emotional situations (Emotion Regulation Handout 19), and checking the facts (Emotion Regulation Handout 8), can be used to fight feelings of being out of control.
- 7. Interpersonal skills (Interpersonal Effectiveness Handouts 5–7), such as asking for help from family, friends, sponsors, ministers, or counselors, can also be helpful. If you are isolated, help can often be found via online support groups.
- 8. Conduct a chain analysis to analyze what prompted the lapse (General Handouts 7, 7a).
- 9. Problem-solve right away to “get back on the wagon” and repair any damage you have done (Emotion Regulation Handout 12).
- 10. Distract yourself, self-soothe, and improve the moment.
- 12. Do pros and cons of stopping addictive behaviors (Distress Tolerance Handout 5).
- 13. Stay away from extreme thinking. Don’t let one slip turn into a disaster.
- 14. Recommit to 100% total abstinence.
Addict mind is:
- Impulsive
- One-minded
- Willing to do anything for a “fix”

When in addict mind, you are ruled by the addiction. The urges for habitual problem behaviors determine your thoughts, emotions, and behaviors.

Clean mind is:
- Naive
- Risk-taking
- Oblivious to dangers

When in clean mind, you are clean but oblivious to dangers that might cue habitual problem behaviors. You believe you are invincible and immune to future temptation.

Both extremes are DANGEROUS!

CLEAR MIND: The safest place to be.

You are clean, but you remember addict mind.

You radically accept that relapse is not impossible.

You enjoy your success, while still expecting urges and cues and planning for when you’re tempted.

Community Reinforcement

Community reinforcement means replacing addiction reinforcers with abstinence reinforcers.

REINFORCING ABSTINENCE IS CRITICAL

Reinforcers in your environment play a powerful role in encouraging or discouraging addictive behaviors.

To stop addictive behavior, you have to figure out how to make a lifestyle without your addictive behaviors more rewarding than a lifestyle with your addictive behaviors.

You have to find a way to get behaviors incompatible with addictions to pay off and be rewarded by those around you.

Willpower is not sufficient. If it were, we would all be perfect!

REPLACE ADDICTION REINFORCERS WITH ABSTINENCE REINFORCERS

Begin a series of action steps that will increase your chances of accumulating positive events to replace addictive behavior.

- Search for people to spend time with who aren’t addicted.
- Increase the number of enjoyable activities you engage in that do not involve your addiction.
- If you cannot decide what people or activities you like, sample a lot of different groups of people and a lot of different activities.

ABSTINENCE SAMPLING

- Commit to ___ days off your addiction, and observe the benefits that naturally occur.
- Temporarily avoid high-risk addiction triggers, and replace these with competing behaviors to get you through the sampling period.
- Observe all the extra positive events occurring when you are not engaging in addictive behaviors.

BURNING BRIDGES

Accept at the most radical level that you are not going to engage in addictive behavior again, and then move actively to cut off all addictive behavior options.

1. Make an absolute commitment to abstinence from the addictive behavior, which is ________________________________ (describe addictive behavior). Then walk into the garage of abstinence and slam the garage door shut. (Remember that the tiniest slit of space can let an entire elephant in.)

2. List everything in your life that makes addiction possible.

3. Get rid of these things:
   - Throw out contact information of people who collude with you.
   - Get rid of all possible cues and temptations.

4. List and do everything you can that will make it hard or impossible to continue your addictive behavior.
   - Ruthlessly and at every moment, tell the truth about your behavior.
   - Tell all your friends and family that you have quit.

BUILDING NEW BRIDGES

Create visual images and smells that will compete with the information loaded into your visual and olfactory brain systems when cravings occur.

Cravings and urges are strongly related to vivid images and smells of what is craved. The stronger the imagery or smell, the stronger the craving.

- Build different images or smells to think about. Try to keep these images or smells in memory when you have an unwanted craving. For example, whenever you crave a cigarette, imagine being on the beach; see and smell it in your mind to reduce the craving.

- When you have unwanted cravings, look at moving images or surround yourself with smells unrelated to the addiction. Moving images and new smells will compete with your cravings.

- “Urge-surf” by imagining yourself on a surfboard riding the waves of your urges. Notice them coming and going, rising high, going low, and finally going away.
Alternate Rebellion and Adaptive Denial

ALTERNATE REBELLION

When addictive behaviors are a way to rebel against authority, conventions, and the boredom of not breaking rules or laws, try alternate rebellion. Alternate rebellion replaces destructive rebellion and keeps you on a path to your goals.

Examples:

- Shave your head.
- Wear crazy underwear.
- Wear unmatched shoes.
- Have secret thoughts.
- Express unpopular views.
- Do random acts of kindness.
- Vacation with your family at a nudist colony.
- Write a letter saying exactly what you want to.
- Dye your hair a wild color.
- Get a tattoo or body piercing.
- Wear clothes inside out.
- Don’t bathe for a week.
- Print a slogan on a t-shirt.
- Paint your face.
- Dress up or dress down where doing so is unexpected.

ADAPTIVE DENIAL

When your mind can’t tolerate craving for addictive behaviors, try adaptive denial.

- Give logic a break when you are doing this. Don’t argue with yourself.
- When urges hit, deny that you want the problem behavior or substance. Convince yourself you want something other than the problem behavior. For example, reframe an urge to have a cigarette as an urge to have a flavored toothpick; an urge to have alcohol as an urge to have something sweet; or an urge to gamble as an urge to alternate rebellion (see above).

Other:

Be adamant with yourself in your denial, and engage in the alternative behavior.

- Put off addictive behavior. Put it off for 5 minutes, then put it off for another 5 minutes, and so on and on, each time saying, “I only have to stand this for 5 minutes.” By telling yourself each day you will be abstinent for today (or each hour for just this hour, and so on), you are saying, “This is not forever. I can stand this right now.”
